MAJOR BATTLE NEAR TODAY IN ETHIOPIAN WAR

Big Armies of Both Sides Converging Near Makale for Important Tilt

CITY ITALY'S OBJECTIVE

Hausien Taken Before Dawn
Today By IL Duce's Men
Under Gen. Santini

WITH THE NORTHERN ITAL-IAN ARMY IN THE FIELD (Via Asmara, Eritrea)—Nov. 4—(INS)—
The first really big battle of the Italo-Ethiopian war may take place within the next few hours,
it was indicated when Italian scouting planes today reported 10,000 armed Ethiopians converging from the south upon Makale.
Makale was the immediate objective of Italy's second big drive
of the war, with a total of 120,000 troops pushing steadily southward along a 60-mile front in an advance which so far has been pacific.

Go Toward Makale

The 10,000 Ethiopians were proceeding toward Makale, the air scouts reported, from the fortified town of Amba Alagi, 35 miles southward on the main highway to Desseye and Addis Ababa—A highway which the Italians hope to use later.

In addition, about 15,000 Ethiopians were believed hiding in the mountainous Tembien region northwest of Makale, massed there under Ras Seyum awaiting an order to attack.

The invading Italians, although they had penetrated peacefully up to today, were prepared for a major counter offensive at any moment.

The Italian left flank, under General Ruggero Santini, captured Hausien just before dawn today. Earlier these forces had occupied the zone immediately
around the city, which lies north of Makale about half way to Ad-igrat.

Following actual taking of the city, Askari (native Eritrean)
troops General Alessandro Pirzio-Biroli occupied the heights southwest of the town, and blackshirt troops of General Santini's army occupied heights to the southwest.

FARMERS SELECT 2 DELEGATES TO STATE MEETING

Members of the Farm Bureau selected C. B. Teegardin, Madison-twp., and S. E. Beers, Scioto-twp.,
as delegates to the Ohio Farm Bureau meetings to be held in Columbus, Nov. 21 and 22, at their meeting Saturday night.

R. M. Cick, Circleville-twp. and T. R. Walker, Scioto-twp., were named alternates.

Charles Lee, field representative of the Ohio Farm Bureau federation spoke at the meeting on the electrification project for Ohio. The county project is still at the Columbus office and will be forwarded to Washington in the near future.

TRUCKER, 50, BADLY HURT; DRIVES ON CLOSED ROAD

Edward Hall, 50, of 312 S.
Washington-st., Columbus, suffered severe cuts about the face and legs early Sunday when a Chevrolet panel truck he was driving collided with a road resurfacing machine on Route 104 near Fox postoffice.

Hall was driving south in the truck, owned by Fred Perkins, 131
E. Long-st., Columbus, a former Circleville resident now operating a wallpaper business in the capital city.

Hall was brought to Circleville
in the Albough ambulance and treated at the hospital by Dr. H.
D. Jackson. The front end of the truck was badly damaged.

Leaders Predict Heavy Voting in City Tuesday

Many Contests Expected to Draw Many Citizens to Polls; Dozen Major Races to be Determined

GEORGE G. ADKINS
Democratic Chairman

"I, personally, urge the voters of Circleville and of Pickaway-co., while all balloting is on local issues, to get out and exercise their right of franchise at the polls, Tuesday, so they will have no complaint hereafter concerning who is elected.

"Our party has splendid candidates in the city and in the various township elections
and I feel confident the city and county will uphold their Democratic traditions.

"All that is necessary is for voters to mark their ballots
for a straight ticket."

TOM A. RENICK
Republican Chairman

"The voters are to decide some important matters. Municipal offices are always important and we have some matters for serious consideration.

"A proposed bond issue for school building purposes is to be voted on and the result will determine the fate of the building program. We also have three members to elect to the board of education on a non-partisan ballot. We do not believe either party should try to influence voters in the selection. In view of the building program and the overcrowded schools, we urge selection of men capable of supervising our schools as they have been in the past."

A fair-to-heavy ballot is predicted in Circleville Tuesday when voters visit the polls from 6:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. to decide who they want for mayor, auditor, treasurer and council, who they think best fitted to serve in the town ship offices, who they believe capable of overseeing operation of

VOTING, TUESDAY, DUTY OF ALL LOCAL CITIZENS

It is the duty of each Circleville citizen to cast his or her vote in Tuesday's election. The issues at stake are of vital importance to all, and to remain away from the polls would be shirking your duty to yourself and your fellow-townsmen.

Wife Murders Mate in New Triangle

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 4—(INS)—"Oh God, why should this
happen to my son?" a frail,
broken-hearted clergyman sobbed
over the bullet-riddled body of his son, Brenton Root, 32, here today.

Until his arrival here from Chicago where he is rector of St.
Simon's Protestant Episcopal church, the Rev. Benjamin Franklin Root had supposed his son died
a natural death.

charged with his murder is his pretty blonde wife, Daisy Alexander Root, 30.

The tragedy was an aftermath
of a gay "reconciliation party"
arranged by friends.

Bailiff Nine Years

"FREE LOVE" AT UNIVERSITY DENIED

N. T. Mears
Who made charges
Dean E. E. Nicholson
Denies charges

Charges of "free love" at the University of Minnesota were termed a complete surprise by E. E. Nicholson, right, dean of student affairs, who said no investigation would be made until N. T. Mears, left, who made the charges, had presented facts. Mears, a St. Paul business man, charged that "open immorality" prevailed on the campus. He made the accusation while addressing the Minnesota temperance movement state council. He said: "At least a dozen senior girls and men are living together, although not married."
He added that he had received the information from his son, Colbert, a freshman at the university. Later investigation disclosed that the son denied having said "anything like that to father" and Mears is quoted as saying that he had not attributed the statement to his son but that "it was just hearsay."

COUGHLIN SEES NEW WORLD WAR

Radio Priest Hints Secret
Anglo-American Union

DETROIT, Nov. 4—(INS)—A warning that the United States
may be drawn into a World War
because of a secret agreement in
force between this country and England, against Italy, had been
sounded here today by Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, the "radio priest."

"The agreement, I believe, was entered into unofficially," Rev.
Coughlin said in opening his winter
series of broadcasts. "Whether you
know it or not, the stage is being
set for our entrance into another World War," the priest claimed.

"I say this because I have real
reason to suspect that the United States secretly, though unofficially, has condoned the sanctions of Great Britain. Nay, I further suspect that the United States appears to have made some tentative plans to cooperate in the
sanctions."

In support of his contention,
Rev. Coughlin pointed to a statement by Prime Minister Stanley
Baldwin, of England, made on Oct.
25. He quoted Baldwin as opposing the sanctions unless sure beforehand of the attitude of the United States.

official Ethiopian communique charged that 30 women and 15
children were killed when Italian airplanes heavily bombed wells at Gerrahai, in the south, according

tion of the Italian advance in the

Claim Farmers Are Unable to Obtain Laborers at Their

CONFERENCE IS HELD

Graham Explains Plan of Federal Chiefs to Give "Em-
ployables" Chance

Eighty-three WPA employes
cooled their heels to the tune of $25 an hour Monday morning on
S. Court-st, while county, city and WPA officials settled an employment problem arising in the street
reconstruction program.

The special meeting was called
when the commissioners, who are
furnishing half of the material
expense, disapproved of starting
the project at this time.

Their contention was they had
made an agreement with the city
at the time they promised to furnish half of the material cost of the project would not be necessary until about Nov. 15. However, at the present time an estimated heaviest part of their construction
ing, they stated, and the city prevents farm laborers from doing private employment.

Graham at meeting
John Graham, district manager of WPA at Columbus, explained
to the meeting. He explained the administration planned to have
one-half of the relief employables
at work today and the balance by
Nov. 15. Plans of the WPA last week were to have more than 100
men started on the project today
and increase the payroll until
about 180 were employed as the work progressed.

Mr. Graham pointed out the
only men employed on the WPA
projects would be relief employ-
ables and hundreds of others not listed in this division would be available for farm work.

After a lengthy discussion it
was decided the present force
would start the project and no additional employes would be added.

voters visit the polls from 6:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. to decide who they want for mayor, auditor, treasurer and council, who they think best
fitted to serve in the township offices, who they believe capable of overseeing operation of the city's school, and whether

Wife Murders Mate in New Triangle

(INS)—"Oh God, why should this
happen to my son?" a frail,
broken-hearted clergyman sobbed
over the bullet-riddled body of his
son, Brenton Root, 32, here today.
Until his arrival here from
Simeon's Protestant Episcopal
church, the Rev. Benjamin Frank-
a natural death.

charged with his murder is his
pretty blonde wife, Daisy Alexander Root, 30.

The tragedy was an aftermath
of a gay "reconciliation party"
arranged by friends.

When Root flaunted his affection for 21-year-old Lucille Underwood, titian-haired "cigarette girl"

at the swank "Sky Room" night
club, the young wife told police,
"I couldn't stand it any longer."

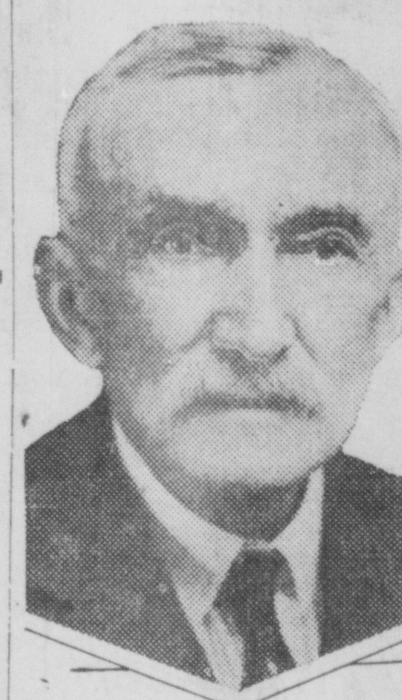

Miss Underwood told police Mrs.
Root had taunted her husband,
remarking:

"There's your cigarette girl, why don't you buy a package of cigarettes?"

"Brett called me 'honey,' " she said, "and then Mrs. Root grabbed my arm and slapped Brett. He told his wife, 'you can keep me from buying a pack of cigarettes from her but you can't keep me from loving her.'"

Mrs. Root left the party, was driven home by a friend. She told police, they revealed:
"I looked into the crib of our

HENRY FOERST, CIVIL WAR VET, IS DEAD AT 90

Former Court Bailiff, Janitor
of High-St. School, Dies at Son's Home

FUNERAL IS WEDNESDAY

Ill Health of Several Months Proves Fatal; Son, George
Only Survivor

Henry "Daddy" Foerst, Civil war veteran and well known Circleville resident who celebrated his 90th birthday anniversary,
Aug. 7, died at his home on N.
Court-st Sunday at 5:30 p. m. of infirmities.

He had been in ill health for many months but his condition suddenly became serious during the last week. Mr. Foerst had made his home for many years with his son, George, manager of the local gas company.

Bailiff Nine Years

He was known to hundreds through his service as bailiff in the common pleas court from 1919 to 1928. To hundreds of school children he became a friend while serving as janitor of the High-st
court building for 22 years.

Mr. Foerst was born in this city on August 7, 1845, on what is now Mill-st. He was the son of George and Elizabeth Blumingshine Foerst who came to America from Bavaria, Germany, in 1838.

His parents came through Circleville from Cleveland on the Ohio
canal and first settled in Piketon.
Three years later they removed to Circleville and spent the remainder of their lives here.

"Daddy" attended the Academy
on Watt-st, an early school here.
He first worked in Kellistadt's grocery store at Main and Washington-sts. After his grocery experience he decided to learn a trade and went to work as an apprentice for Peter Bartholomew in the woodworking industry.

N. T. Mears

Dean E. E. Nicholson
Denies charges

a complete surprise by E. E. Nicholson, right, dean of student affairs, who said no investigation would be made until N. T. Mears,
business man, charged that "open immorality" prevailed on the campus. He made the accusation while addressing the Minnesota
senior girls and men are living together, although not married." He added that he had received the information from his son, Colbert, a freshman at the university. Later investigation disclosed
that the son denied having said "anything like that to father" and Mears is quoted as saying that he had not attributed the state-

Radio Priest Hints Secret
Anglo-American Union

DETROIT, Nov. 4—(INS)—A
warning that the United States
may be drawn into a World War
because of a secret agreement in
force between this country and England, against Italy, had been
sounded here today by Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, the "radio priest."

"The agreement, I believe, was
entered into unofficially," Rev.
Coughlin said in opening his winter
series of broadcasts. "Whether you
know it or not, the stage is being
set for our entrance into another
World War," the priest claimed.

"I say this because I have real
reason to suspect that the United States secretly, though unofficial-
ly, has condoned the sanctions of Great Britain. Nay, I further suspect that the United States appears to have made some tenta-
sanctions."

In support of his contention,
Rev. Coughlin pointed to a statement by Prime Minister Stanley
Baldwin, of England, made on Oct.
25. He quoted Baldwin as opposing the sanctions unless sure be-

Claim Farmers Are Unable to

CONFERENCE IS HELD

Graham Explains Plan of Federal Chiefs to Give "Em-
ployables" Chance

Eighty-three WPA employees
cooled their heels to the tune of $25 an hour Monday morning on
S. Court-st, while county, city and WPA officials settled an employment problem arising in the street
reconstruction program.

The special meeting was called
when the commissioners, who are
expense, disapproved of starting
the project at this time.

Their contention was they had
made an agreement with the city
at the time they promised to furnish half of the material costs. The project would not be underway until about Nov. 15. Farmers at the present time are entering the heaviest part of their corn husking, they stated, and the project prevents farm laborers from taking private employment.

Graham at Meeting

John Graham, district engineer of WPA at Chillicothe, was called to the meeting. He explained the
administration planned to have
one-half of the relief employables
at work today and the balance by
Nov. 15. Plans of the WPA last
week were to have more than 100
men started on the project today
and increase the payroll until
about 180 were employed as the
work progressed.

Mr. Graham pointed out the
only men employed on the WPA
projects would be relief employ-
listed in this division would be
available for farm work.

After a lengthy discussion it
was decided the present force
would start the project and no additional employes would be added.

MAYOR'S RACES
THROUGH STATE
PROMISE ACTION

Cleveland, Columbus, and
Other Cities Watch
Voting

By International News Service

Out through the rural precincts today voters had to be reminded that tomorrow is election day, but the red fire, oratorical blasts and bitter contests in several of Ohio's major cities stirred the electorate to a climax on the eve of the off-year local elections.

Cleveland furnished the only issue of state-wide importance, a race between former mayor Ray T. Miller, Democrat, and H. H. Burton, Republican, for mayor of the state's largest city.

Test Davey Strength

The contest may be viewed by many observers as a test of Gov. Martin L. Davey's popularity in the city which gave him a large vote last fall, for Davey has backed Miller enthusiastically, even going so far as to hail him as "the next mayor" shortly after his nomination.

U. S. Senator Robert J. Bulkley's assistance to his fellow Democrat there, however, was rather lukewarm. Bulkley publicly supports Miller but laments the fact that he is allied so closely with Burr Gongwer, Democratic county boss.

At Columbus, the leader of Republican forces in the Ohio House of Representatives, Rep. Myron B. Gessaman, wound up his campaign to unseat Mayor Henry B. Worley, Democrat, president of the Ohio League of Municipalities, although voters appeared somewhat listless.

Stuebenville contributed one of the hottest election campaigns, with the murder of U. S. Deputy Marshal L. S. Prevatt injected as a doubtful factor. Here John Nolan, powerful Democratic leader, has sought to lay blame for Prevatt's shooting on rival politicians espousing the cause of Charles E. Baker, Republican mayoralty candidate. Earl D. Applegate, Democrat, is Nolan's choice for the chief executive post.

Withdrawals from Race

Youngstown saw a sensational development on the eve of election as Paul E. Lyden, one of three Republican candidates for mayor, withdrew in favor of Lionel Evans, G. O. P. endorsed aspirant. Michael J. Kirwin had already withdrawn in favor of W. B. Spagnola and Fire Chief Harry Callan is the remaining candidate.

MONEY TRANSFERRED

COLUMBUS, Nov. 3.—Fear that recipients in Pickaway-co would not receive their old age pension checks this week was removed Saturday when $500,000 was transferred from Liquor Control Department profits to the general revenue fund for the sole use of paying awards to the aged.

Henry J. Berroldin, Chief of the Division of Aid for the Aged, said that this money will be sufficient to take care of pension awards for October and for the counties through Cuyahoga in November. Another transfer of funds will be necessary at that time to insure payments for the current month.

The pension chief was extremely pleased by the action of the House of Representatives in passing the Boyd Amendment providing for $18,000,000 to pay old age pensions for the rest of this year and for 1936. The House also voted $900,000 for expenses of the pension division in 1936.

"Unfairness" Cited

Officials also discussed what they termed an "element of unfairness" in the WPA projects. Many men, who have taken any type of work to keep their names from the relief rolls, are not eligible for work on the projects because they are not listed as relief employables.

It was also agreed, if the condition should arise where men for private placements could not be secured from the National Re-employment service files, men suited to the type of labor wanted would be transferred to private work from WPA projects.

The workers were sent to a Court-st about 8 a. m. and the meeting was concluded shortly after noon.

The public service committee of council comprised of Ben Gordon, Dan Ryan and Frank Baker, attended the first meeting. Ben Gordon was the only councilman present for the second meeting. Others attending the meeting with the commissioners were: Vattier Courtwright, field WPA engineer, Mr. Graham, and W. M. Justus, city service director.

GREEN DENIES VOTE COERCION

Corn-Hog Ballot

COLUMBUS, Nov. 4.—Charges of coercion and high-pressure methods in connection with the vote in the corn-hog referendum were declared to be without justification by Perry L. Green, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau, in a statement discussing the overwhelming "yes" vote of Ohio farmers. Mr. Green's statement, made at Columbus today, pointed out that of 33,415 Ohio farmers who were contract signers during 1935, nearly 91 per cent of them voted for the continuation of the program in 1936.

"The referendum itself," Green said, "discloses the injustice and unfairness of those critics and opponents of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration program who have declared that farmers are being 'regimented' and deprived of their liberty." The results of the referendum clearly express the thinking of farmers who have given considerable thought to facts pertinent to present and future market conditions affecting corn and hogs.

"Farmers and their friends know that the Agricultural Adjustment Act was drafted hurriedly in an emergency. It was expected that imperfections and inequalities would arise in its application. When the Act is refined and improved to iron out these imperfections, it is my opinion there will be nearly 100 per cent support given it by the farmers of the state and nation."

The temperature is 110 in parts of Ethiopia; the water supply is limited and disease spreads, but Mussolini is enduring it all without complaint.

TWO ARRESTED
BLAST KILLS 2

Detectives Withhold Names of Men; Terrorist Killed, So

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 4.—(INS).

Two unidentified pals of Isador Rutkowski, blown to bits yesterday by his own infernal machine in a terrific explosion which took at least one other life, were arrested early today and it was reported are about to confess aiding the vandal in the series of bombings which have terrorized Milwaukee the past week.

Detectives refused to name the two men. They were taken into custody with a number of others, also unidentified, but all known to be pals or relatives of Rutkowski.

An innocent victim of the blast was 9-year-old Patricia Mynarek. Playing in her home, next door to the two-car garage where the explosion occurred, she was horribly mangled and died in an ambulance enroute to the hospital. Her mother, Clara, and 4-year-old brother, Conrad, were critically injured and were near death today. Eleven other persons were injured. Damage to homes and stores in the neighborhood will exceed $100,000, authorities said.

So terrific was the explosion, police were unable to determine whether a second man was with Rutkowski. Bits of remains gathered by police and firemen indicated a second victim may have perished with the 20-year-old hoodlum, a coroner's deputy declared.

Paul Chavaneck, 19, a crony of Rutkowski, was being sought by police, it was learned. It was also learned two brothers of the victim, George and Larry, were the object of a police search last night. Whether they were among the group in custody today, police refused to reveal.

Chief of Police Jacob Laurenheimer declared today Rutkowski has been definitely linked with the five previous bombings here, and with the threats to blow up theaters and the Wisconsin News, which had posted a $5,000 reward for the capture of the terrorists.

It was believed Rutkowski was preparing to carry out his telephone threat to bomb the News when he became the victim of his own maniacal machinations.

Just twenty hours prior to the fatal explosion the News received a threat.

"You won't have any newspaper in twenty-four hours unless that reward is withdrawn."

NO. 1 GANG MOLL SLAIN; KNEW TOO MUCH, CLAIM

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 4.—(INS).—Vivian Chase, the nation's No. 1 gang moll, was taken for a ride because she knew too much," authorities declared here today.

The body of the 34-year-old redhead, a suspect in the kidnapping of August Leir, Alton, Ill., banker, was found in an auto parked in the rear of St. Luke's hospital here yesterday.

In addition to being wanted in connection with the Luer kidnapping, the quick-shooting moll was sought in connection with the robbery of numerous banks. In October, 1932, she sawed her way out of the Liberty, Mo., jail where she was being held as an accomplice in the looting of the National Bank and Trust Company of North Kansas City.

She is believed to have been associated with Alvin Karpis, the nation's Public Enemy No. 1, at one time during her long criminal career.

Her slaying gives her the dubious distinction of being the second woman to be taken for a ride" because she "knew too much." Her predecessor was Vivian Gordon, night club butterfly, found tortured and strangled in New York in 1931.

Attractively slender and fair, her luminous blue eyes belied her desperate lawlessness and scorn for society.

Speaks, Crooks to Top
Tonight's Air Features

Soprano, Tenor to Be Heard at 8:30; Rudy Vallee's Contract
Assures Him Job Until 1942

Tonight's programs bring many features into the homes of Circleville residents via radio. The evening marks the return of Margaret Speaks and Richard Crooks at 8:30 over NBC. The singers will be supported by William Daly's orchestra and a chorus of 18 voices.

It promises to be a real highlight of the week.

A new tenor, Ben Klassen, will sing with the Gypsies at 9 over NBC every Monday night replacing Jan Pearce who moves up to Saturday night. Klassen is from San Francisco.

The second episode in the life and activities of Andrew Mellon will be aired at 10 p. m. also over NBC, while The March of Time will be heard 30 minutes later over CBS.

Tuesday's highlight will be the appearance of Amelia Earhart Putnam, ace aviatrix, as a guest on Guest's Welcome Valley program at 8:30 over NBC.

Rudy Vallee started last Thursday on his seventh year as the star of his yeast show—which sets a record. And by the same token, Mr. Vallee, who once said that he wanted to get away from microphones and become a network executive, won't be able to realize his ambition for seven more years. His contract with his sponsor holds him to the job (waiving unforeseen events and mutual cancellations) until 1942.

In seven years Vallee, by his unselfish policy of sharing the spotlight, has not only preserved his own popularity, but set scores of performers on the path to glory. At the moment there are 51 itinerant acts with the billing, "as heard on the Rudy Vallee Program."

In those six years of radio performance, and counting the air program as a springboard to other financial achievements, Mr. Vallee has had more than $9,000,000 pass through his hands. Out of this, he had to pay the help of course. Incidentally, Mr. Vallee has made hits of at least 142 songs in that time.

A minor may secure a patent as well as a person 21 years old or more.

PROF. WALLACE HEADS STABLE

Returns to Toledo to Manage Ginger Hill Farm

Prof. John A. Wallace, well known Circleville horse trainer on E. Mound-st., has returned to Toledo to assume management of the Ginger Hill stables, located on Flanders road near Sylvania.

Mr. Wallace had spent many years in Toledo operating his own academy where he gave many prominent horsemen and horsewomen their early instruction in riding. His career started more than 60 years ago and has shown gaited saddle horses from coast to coast, winning wide recognition as a trainer and rider.

In a recent issue of Turf and Tanbark, a leading magazine of the horse world, Mr. Wallace was referred to as the oldest living representative of the great school of riding masters and showmen who dominated the tanbark scene during the past half century.

MAYOR'S RACES THROUGH STATE PROMISE ACTION

By International News Service
Out through the rural precincts today voters had to be reminded that tomorrow is election day, but the red fire, oratorical blasts and bitter contests in several of Ohio's major cities stirred the electorate to a climax on the eve of the off-year local elections.

Cleveland furnished the only issue of state-wide importance—a race between former mayor Ray T. Miller, Democrat, and H. H. Burton, Republican, for mayor of the state's largest city.

Test Davey Strength

The contest may be viewed by many observers as a test of Gov. Martin L. Davey's popularity in the city which gave him a large vote last fall, for Davey has backed Miller enthusiastically, even going so far as to hail him as "the next mayor" shortly after his nomination.

U. S. Senator Robert J. Bulkley's assistance to his fellow Democrat there, however, was rather lukewarm. Bulkley publicly supports Miller but laments the fact that he is allied so closely with Burr Gongwer, Democratic county boss.

At Columbus, the leader of Republican forces in the Ohio House of Representatives, Rep. Myron B. Gessaman, wound up his campaign to unseat Mayor Henry B. Worley, Democrat, president of the Ohio League of Municipalities, although voters appeared somewhat listless.

Steubenville contributed one of the hottest election campaigns, with the murder of U. S. Deputy Marshal L. S. Prevatt injected as a doubtful factor. Here John Nolan, powerful Democratic leader, has sought to lay blame for Prevatt's shooting on rival politicians espousing the cause of Charles E. Baker, Republican mayoralty candidate. Earl D. Applegate, Democrat, is Nolan's choice for the chief executive post.

Withdraws from Race

Youngstown saw a sensational development on the eve of election as Paul E. Lyden, one of three Republican candidates for mayor, withdrew in favor of Lionel Evans, G. O. P. endorsed aspirant. Michael J. Kirwin had already withdrawn in favor of W. B. Spagnola and Fire Chief Harry Callan is the remaining candidate.

MONEY TRANSFERRED

COLUMBUS, Nov. 3.—Fear that recipients in Pickaway-co would not receive their old age pension checks this week was removed Saturday when $500,000 was transferred from Liquor Control Department profits to the general revenue fund for the sole use of paying awards to the aged.

Henry J. Berroddin, Chief of the Division of Aid for the Aged, said that this money will be sufficient to take care of pension awards for October and for the counties through Cuyahoga in November. Another transfer of funds will be necessary at that time to insure payments for the current month.

The pension chief was extremely pleased by the action of the House of Representatives in passing the Boyd Amendment providing for $18,000,000 to pay old age pensions for the rest of this year and for 1936. The House also voted $900,000 for expenses of the pension division in 1936.

FINED $25, COSTS

Ralph Smith, Galena, Rt. 2, paid a fine of $25 and costs Saturday afternoon to H. O. Eveland, justice of peace, for using fictitious auto tags. Smith was arrested by state highway patrolmen.

A total of 101 had been ordered to report but 83 showed up.

"Unfairness" Cited

Officials also discussed what they termed an "element of unfairness" in the WPA projects. Many men, who have taken any type of work to keep their names from the relief rolls, are not eligible for work on the projects because they are not listed as relief employables.

It was also agreed, if the condition should arise where men for private placements could not be secured from the National Re-employment service files, men suited to the type of labor wanted would be transferred to private work from WPA projects.

The workers were sent to Court-st about 8 a. m. and the meeting was concluded shortly after noon.

The public service committee of council comprised of Ben Gordon, Dan Ryan and Frank Baker, attended the first meeting. Ben Gordon was the only councilman present for the second meeting. Others attending the meeting with the commissioners were: Vattier Courtright, field WPA engineer, Mr. Graham, and W. M. Justus, city service director.

GREEN DENIES VOTE COERCION

Corn-Hog Ballot

COLUMBUS, Nov. 4.—Charges of coercion and high-pressure methods in connection with the vote in the corn-hog referendum were declared to be without justification by Perry L. Green, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau, in a statement discussing the overwhelming "yes" vote of Ohio farmers. Mr. Green's statement, made at Columbus today, pointed out that of 33,415 Ohio farmers who were contract signers during 1935, nearly 91 per cent of them voted for the continuation of the program in 1936.

"The referendum itself," Green said, "discloses the injustice and unfairness of those critics and opponents of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration program who have declared that farmers are being 'regimented' and deprived of their 'liberty.' The results of the referendum clearly express the thinking of farmers who have given considerable thought to facts pertinent to present and future market conditions affecting corn and hogs."

"Farmers and their friends know that the Agricultural Adjustment Act was drafted hurriedly in an emergency. It was expected that imperfections and inequalities would arise in its application. When the Act is refined and improved to iron out these imperfections, it is my opinion there will be nearly 100 per cent support given it by the farmers of the state and nation."

TWO ARRESTED AS BOMBERS; BLAST KILLS 2

Is Little Girl

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 4.—(INS)—Two unidentified pals of Isador Rutkowski, blown to bits yesterday by his own infernal machine in a terrific explosion which took at least one other life, were arrested early today and it was reported are about to confess aiding the vandal in the series of bombings which have terrorized Milwaukee the past week.

Detectives refused to name the two men. They were taken into custody with a number of others, also unidentified, but all known to be pals or relatives of Rutkowski.

An innocent victim of the blast was 9-year-old Patricia Mynarek. Playing in her home, next door to the two-car garage where the explosion occurred, she was horribly mangled and died in an ambulance enroute to the hospital. Her mother, Clara, and 4-year-old brother, Conrad, were critically injured and were near death today. Eleven other persons were injured. Damage to homes and stores in the neighborhood will exceed $100,000, authorities said.

So terrific was the explosion, police were unable to determine whether a second man was with Rutkowski. Bits of remains gathered by police and firemen indicated a second victim may have perished with the 20-year-old hoodlum, a coroner's deputy declared.

Paul Chavaneck, 19, a crony of Rutkowski, was being sought by police, it was learned. It was also learned two brothers of the victim, George and Larry, were the object of a police search last night. Whether they were among the group in custody today, police refused to reveal.

Chief of Police Jacob Laurenheimer declared today Rutkowski has been definitely linked with the five previous bombings here, and with the threats to blow up theaters and the Wisconsin News, which had posted a $5,000 reward for the capture of the terrorists.

It was believed Rutkowski was preparing to carry out his telephone threat to bomb the News when he became the victim of his own maniacal machinations.

Just twenty hours prior to the fatal explosion the News received a threat.

NO. 1 GANG MOLL SLAIN; KNEW TOO MUCH, CLAIM

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 4.—(INS)—Vivian Chase, the nation's No. 1 gang moll, was taken for a ride because she knew too much," authorities declared here today.

The body of the 34-year-old redhead, a suspect in the kidnaping of August Leir, Alton, Ill., banker, was found in an auto parked in the rear of St. Luke's hospital here yesterday.

In addition to being wanted in connection with the Luer kidnaping, the quick-shooting moll was sought in connection with the robbery of numerous banks. SIX YEARS AGO AND NOW
SIX YEARS AGO the nation, which had grown rich, soft and supercilious after several years of easy and plentiful money,
was having its first taste of economic disaster, or at least the recent depression. On a single afternoon the values of stocks
tumbled from five to ninety-six points.
Then, after a week-end respite, the slide
continued. The rest is history.

News of recent weeks offers a pleasant contrast. A September advance in private industrial employment to the highest level
in five years has been reported by Secretary of Labor Perkins. More than 350,000 workers were added during the month to the payrolls of manufacturing industry.
Not the least significant of developments is an improvement in the condition of the real estate market, reported at the annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, held last week in Atlantic City. Real estate has until recently resisted all strengthening influences and changes for the better are important.

The banking situation, bullish tendencies
in the stock market which have in some instances compensated for the losses in the collapse of six years ago, betterment in retail trade and industry are all evidences of wholesome recovery.

While they provide reason for optimism,
there still remain as disturbing factors the unresolved problem of unemployment relief and the unprecedented expenditures and indebtedness of the federal government.
Until they have been eliminated, recovery
can hardly rest upon a substantial basis.

The soviets are alarmed at Japanese maneuvering near its borders. Probably if the effort to chase Mars out of Europe and Africa is successful, he can find a welcome there.

According to one of those vivid dispatches from the battle-front, a "wall of (Ethiopian) flesh" will oppose Italy's modern weapons. The trouble probably will be that in this case, as in most others, the flesh is weak.

Buffalo police are trying to prevent drunks from entering their motor cars. The enforcement plans affords interesting possibilities for curbstone controversy.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

Republicans look toward Saturday night, Nov. 16, with wonder-ment. Former President Herbert Hoover speaks that night in New York before the Ohio Society of New York—and over a nationwide radio hookup.

The fear is (in the Republican ranks) that Mr. Hoover will launch his candidacy that night for the Republican nomination for the presidency, and that the money-men of the party will declare war on him, tearing the party wide open.

Mr. Hoover's former postmaster general, Walter F. Brown, of Toledo, O.—one of the toriest of Tories—is understood to be Mr.
Hoover's "campaign" manager.

But it is in Ohio where insurrection has broken out—yes, insurrection among "big money" men.

Congressman Chester C. Bolton
of Cleveland, millionaire "blustocking," representing one of the wealthiest districts in the union,
and a Union club member par excellence, is being put forward by the Ohio state Republican committee as Ohio's favorite son.

Bolton has no chance for the Republican presidential nomination (although he may become nominee for vice president). He is, what is more important, a leader of the money group that will support the wherewithal for the presidential campaign. That group insists on the nomination of a conservative, but one who has a chance of winning. Mr. Hoover is not so conceived.

And to prevent Mr. Hoover
from winning, these money-power conservations have hit upon the idea of putting forth favorite sons in states that count (such as Ohio), so that the delegates will go to the national convention on a trading basis.

In that manner, the bosses will be able to decide on a "safe" candidate in a back room.

Remember Warren C. Harding,
of Ohio, in 1920?

HOOPER AGAINST BOSSES

Strange as it may seem to the outsider, Mr. Hoover is being put into the position of fighting the bosses who now have the Republican party in hand.

Supporting the favorite son idea,
besides Representative Bolton of Ohio are Charles D. Hilles of New York (a relic of the Taft-Harding days), J. Henry Roraback of Connecticut and former Senator David Reed (Andrew Mellon's lawyer), of Pennsylvania.

The weakness of this combination lies in the great farm states, which the Republicans must carry to win. To overcome that, these leaders may concentrate, in the

UTILITIES SECRETLY ABANDON BAL- TIMORE TEST CASE OF HOLDING COMPANY BILL

WASHINGTON — An inside tip has reached the ears of the New Deal's legal shock-troopers that utility interests have secretly decided to abandon the Baltimore test of the Holding Corporation Act.
Instead, they will throw their weight behind the new suit just filed in Wilmington, Del.

This action also attacks the constitutionality of the law, without the Government being a party to the suit. It was instituted by the bankruptcy trustees of the Central West Public Service Company, a Halsey-Stuart concern.

Reason for the reported decision to smother the Baltimore suit is legal tactics.
During the court hearings, Government attorneys brought out the amazing fact that John W. Davis, chief utility counsel, did not know personally the client on whose behalf he was supposed to be acting.

Utility men have voiced the fear that this revelation might prejudice their case in the eyes of the court. The Administration has made no secret on its intention to exploit the matter to the utmost.

ROOSEVELT VS. ROOSEVELT

Now that the bitter Congressional fight
on the Holding Corporation Bill is over, members of the President's family are chuckling over a letter he got while the battle was hottest.

Roosevelt is "remainderman" for a trust fund held by the Bank of New York and Trust Company. In other words, Mrs.
James Roosevelt, Senior, his mother, holds a trust in this bank, and upon her death
the President inherits the remainder.

During the fight on the Holding Corporation Bill, the Bank of New York and Trust Company sent letters to all beneficiaries of trusts in which it was requested that they start a barrage against the President and his Holding Corporation Bill.
The President received one of these

BOMBSHELL

The reported gubernatorial ambitions of William M. Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture in the Coolidge Administration and now head of Wichita, Kan., University,
may be thwarted at the start.

The American Association of University Professors is about to explode a bomb under him.

Recently Jardine dismissed several members of his faculty on various charges.
Friends of the educators claimed they were really fired because of their liberal views and that their ouster was a breach of academic freedom.

As a result the Professors' Association sent a special committee to Wichita to investigate. The report of the committee—shortly to be published in the monthly bulletin of the Association—will contain a

The Romance Racket

BASIL ALDINGTON had left a deep impression on Carol and her anticipation of seeing him the next night was happy but short-lived.
She was to learn that she was not to be independent as long as she traveled with Miranda. The sacrifice was all on her part but Miranda was paying for their trip and Carol soon realized that she must cater to the older woman's whims and wishes.
"Miss Miranda, does it matter so much if we leave the next day?" she asked hesitatingly.
"My dear," Miranda asked surprised, "why does it matter if we leave tomorrow? I have already engaged our passage. We've seen everything there is to see in London."
"Of course, we'll go," Carol said
then. "But you see, I met a very nice young man tonight and he...
well he asked me to go to the theater
tomorrow night."
"You met a young man tonight?"
But I thought you went for a walk."
"I did," Carol answered. "But you see... in the fog I got lost and... well I asked him the way back. He came home with me. His name is East Aldington and he's only just back from India. He is alone in London, too, and... he thought it would be nice for us to go to the theater. He is coming around at tea-time tomorrow to meet you."
"He won't find us here, I'm afraid," Miranda said tartly. "We'll be having our tea in Paris tomorrow. I haven't been there since I was a girl. Besides, Carol, I am surprised to find that you would lend yourself to such strange behavior. What sort of a girl would he think you? Nice young men don't ask nice young women to the theater until they've been properly presented. I think it is an excellent idea that we leave immediately."
Carol said nothing to that.
Miranda was assuming the role of chaperone to herself with entirely too much seriousness, Carol thought.
She must have shown her disappointment for Miranda said enojingly: "We'll buy you lots of pretty clothes in Paris, Carol, because I want my girl to be every bit as attractive as the others. They tell me the French Riviera is the most attractive place in the world as far as beautiful women and beautiful clothes go."
"The Riviera?" Carol asked.
"Yes, I was going to surprise you but you seem so disappointed about missing an engagement with this young man, I want you to know I've planned some other good times for you."
But it may be dangerous to go to the Riviera. There are sure to be

A deluge of letters from the

Norma Shearer's immortal dra-

as one of the greatest photoplays

modern scenes around which the

"The Clairvoyant," the GB production starring Claude Rains and the mystic power of clairvoyancy.

It takes you into the heart and soul and mind of a man, endowed through contact with a strange girl who unconsciously is his medium, with the power to make the invisible visible... to tear a veil
from the future and reveal its joys

REVELLE

(April 6, 1917)

What sudden bugle calls us in the night
And wakes us from a dream that we had shaped;
Flinging us sharply up against a fight
We thought we had escaped?

It is no easy waking, and we win
No final peace; our victories are few.
But still imperative forces pull us in

Summoned by a supreme and confident power
That wakes our sleeping courage
like a blow.
We rise, half-shaken, to the challenging hour.
And answer it—and go...

DIET AND HEALTH

What Is It That Aches When One Has Headache?

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
ONE OF THE real problems about headache is, what aches? There are many structures in the head, many nerves, many different mechanisms, and it is not easy to explain
a headache on any one single basis.
The brain itself is entirely insensitive to pain, but the covering of the brain, the dura
mater, is sensitive to pain, and especially when it is stretched.
Inasmuch as it is confined in a solid bony box
and in the center of the brain there is a lake or rather, river of fluid which may be under tension, or under varying tensions, it is possible that in one form of headache the pressure of this fluid stretches the dura mater and causes the pain. In this case it is one of those bursting kind of headaches, and the patient really feels what is actually happening—that the brain may be under pressure. Of course we know that this kind of mechanism can cause headache because it is the mechanism which obtains in the headache of brain tumor, a condition which is, fortunately, rare.
Then another thing that can happen to make the head ache is concerned with the sinuses of the nose.
Nature, in order to make the skull
light, designed a series of air cavities.
If the skull were solid bone, it would require a great deal more muscular effort than we now use to carry it around. These air cavities lighten
it. They also have to do with the resonance of the voice. They are called "sinuses." Each one is lined with mucous membrane, which has a secretion, and each one has an opening into the cavity of the nose.
When these openings close up, the secretion dries on and tension naturally results. This occurs rarely in sinus disease, however, as we shall see later in the week.
The head is also filled with nerves
of sensation, which go over the scalp
and into the skin of the face, and into the bony structure. These are subject to neuritis, neuralgia and fatigue, and when affected in this way
begin to ache, resulting in another form of headache.

A HEART SMALL SLAM

MR. J. B. DEMOREST, a reader of The Clinton Herald, writes: "A friend of mine recently made a small slam at hearts on the following hand. He sat South and showed both major suits. The opening lead was the Ace of diamonds. He must at once lead the K of clubs. Declarer must not pull trumps, as dummy's trumps must be reserved to ruff one or two spades.
Declarer must, however, rid his hand of his losing diamond. To do this lead a low heart. Normal play is to put up dummy's K of hearts. Lead the Ace of clubs. On that trick discard declarer's last diamond."

At the fifth trick lead one of dummy's spades. East must play the Q of that suit. It would be useless to false-card with the K. If West held five spades headed by the Q
he almost certainly would have led a trump, to hold down dummy's ruffs of that suit. Probably also he would have doubled 6-Hearts. Win the fifth trick with declarer's Ace. Lead back a low spade, giving East the K of that suit.

The most natural return lead by East is the K of diamonds. Have South ruff with a low card. He does not fear that West will show out of the suit. Lead a low spade. That suit may have been dealt 3-3 to opponents, but the odds are nearly 2 to 1 that the deal gave opponents a 4-2 division. South may expect East has no more spades, but all that he can do is to ruff with dummy's 8, hoping that East will not overruff with the nussing J. Lead the 10 of hearts.
Overtake with the Q, giving South 8
of the tricks played. Lead both declarer's trumps, to lead his two good spades. Normal play will yield a small slam.

SIX YEARS AGO AND NOW

SIX YEARS AGO the nation, which had grown rich, soft and supercilious after several years of easy and plentiful money, was having its first taste of economic disaster, or at least the recent depression. On a single afternoon the values of stocks tumbled from five to ninety-six points. Then, after a week-end respite, the slide continued. The rest is history.

News of recent weeks offers a pleasant contrast. A September advance in private industrial employment to the highest level in five years has been reported by Secretary of Labor Perkins. More than 350,000 workers were added during the month to the payrolls of manufacturing industry.

Not the least significant of developments is an improvement in the condition of the real estate market, reported at the annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, held last week in Atlantic City. Real estate has until recently resisted all strengthening influences and changes for the better are important.

The banking situation, bullish tendencies in the stock market which have in some instances compensated for the losses in the collapse of six years ago, betterment in retail trade and industry are all evidences of wholesome recovery.

While they provide reason for optimism, there still remain as disturbing factors the unsolved problem of unemployment relief and the unprecedented expenditures and indebtedness of the federal government. Until they have been eliminated, recovery can hardly rest upon a substantial basis.

The soviets are alarmed at Japanese maneuvering near its borders. Probably if the effort to chase Mars out of Europe and Africa is successful, he can find a welcome there.

According to one of those vivid dispatches from the battle-front, a "wall of (Ethiopian) flesh" will oppose Italy's modern weapons. The trouble probably will be that in this case, as in most others, the flesh is weak.

Buffalo police are trying to prevent drunks from entering their motor cars. The enforcement plans affords interesting possibilities for curbstone controversy.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

Republicans look toward Saturday night, Nov. 16, with wonderment. Former President Herbert Hoover speaks that night in New York before the Ohio Society of New York—and over a nationwide radio hookup.

The fear is (in the Republican ranks) that Mr. Hoover will launch his candidacy that night for the Republican nomination for the presidency, and that the money-men of the party will declare war on him, tearing the party wide open.

Mr. Hoover's former postmaster general, Walter F. Brown of Toledo, O.—one of the toriest of Tories—is understood to be Mr. Hoover's "campaign" manager.

But it is in Ohio where insurrection has broken out—yes, insurrection among "big money" men.

Congressman Chester C. Bolton of Cleveland, millionaire "blue stocking," representing one of the wealthiest districts in the union, and a Union club member par excellence, is being put forward by the Ohio state Republican committee as Ohio's favorite son.

Bolton has no chance for the Republican presidential nomination (although he may become nominee for vice president). He is, what is more important, a leader of the money group that will supply the wherewithal for the presidential campaign.

That group insists on the nomination of a conservative, but one who has a chance of winning. Mr. Hoover is not so conceived.

And to prevent Mr. Hoover from winning, these money-power conservatives have hit upon the idea of putting forth favorite sons in states that count (such as Ohio), so that the delegates will go to the national convention on a trading basis.

In that manner, the bosses will be able to decide on a "safe" candidate in a back room.

Remember Warren G. Harding, of Ohio, in 1920?

HOOVER AGAINST BOSSES

Strange as it may seem to the outsider, Mr. Hoover is being put into the position of fighting the bosses who now have the Republican party in hand.

Supporting the favorite son idea, besides Representative Bolton of Ohio are Charles D. Hilles of New York (a relic of the Taft-Harding days), J. Henry Roraback of Connecticut and former Senator David Reed (Andrew Mellon's lawyer), of Pennsylvania.

The weakness of this combination lies in the great farm states, which the Republicans must carry to win. To overcome that, these leaders may concentrate, in the

WASHINGTON — An inside tip has reached the ears of the New Deal's legal shock-troopers that utility interests have secretly decided to abandon the Baltimore test of the Holding Corporation Act. Instead, they will throw their weight behind the new suit just filed in Wilmington, Del.

This action also attacks the constitutionality of the law, without the Government being a party to the suit. It was instituted by the bankruptcy trustees of the Central West Public Service Company, a Halsey-Stuart concern.

Reason for the reported decision to smother the Baltimore suit is legal tactics.

During the court hearings, Government attorneys brought out the amazing fact that John W. Davis, chief utility counsel, did not know personally the client on whose behalf he was supposed to be acting.

Utility men have voiced the fear that this revelation might prejudice their case in the eyes of the court. The Administration has made no secret on its intention to exploit the matter to the utmost.

ROOSEVELT VS. ROOSEVELT

Now that the bitter Congressional fight on the Holding Corporation Bill is over, members of the President's family are chuckling over a letter he got while the battle was hottest.

Roosevelt is "remainderman" for a trust fund held by the Bank of New York and Trust Company. In other words, Mrs. James Roosevelt, Senior, his mother, holds a trust in this bank, and upon her death the President inherits the remainder.

During the fight on the Holding Corporation Bill, the Bank of New York and Trust Company sent letters to all beneficiaries of trusts in which it was requested that they start a barrage against the President and his Holding Corporation Bill.

The President received one of these letters asking that he oppose himself.

BOMBSHELL

The reported gubernatorial ambitions of William M. Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture in the Coolidge Administration and now head of Wichita, Kan., University, may be thwarted at the start.

The American Association of University Professors is about to explode a bomb under him.

Recently Jardine dismissed several members of his faculty on various charges. Friends of the educators claimed they were really fired because of their liberal views and that their ouster was a breach of academic freedom.

As a result the Professors' Association sent a special committee to Wichita to investigate. The report of the committee—shortly to be published in the monthly bulletin of the Association—will contain a blistering condemnation of Jardine.

Nice young men don't ask nice young women to the theater until they've been properly presented. I think it is an excellent idea that we leave immediately."

Carol said nothing to that. Miranda was assuming the role of chaperone to herself with entirely too much seriousness, Carol thought.

She must have shown her disappointment for Miranda said cajolingly: "Well, buy you lots of pretty clothes in Paris, Carol, because I want my girl to be every bit as attractive as the others. They tell me the French Riviera is the most attractive place in the world as far as beautiful women and beautiful clothes go."

"The Riviera?" Carol asked.

"Yes, I was going to surprise you but you seem so disappointed about missing an engagement with this young man, I want you to know I've planned some other good times for you."

"But it may be dangerous to go to the Riviera. There are sure to be people there who would recognize you and all our plans would be destroyed."

"Do you think I would be recognized?" Miranda asked wistfully.

Carol, studying the smartly dressed and gowned Miranda, thought it unlikely that anyone would recognize her as the stately old-fashioned Miss Van Cleve of a scant month before. Her thin gray locks had been clipped short and shiffling and shuffling had gone wonders with the smooth permanent waves. Smartly corseted her figure looked pounds lighter and inches taller. The very character of her chic clothes stole 10 years from her age and a touch of makeup had given her face a new life.

Remembering the miracle makeup and clothes had wrought in herself, Carol did not doubt for an instant but what Miranda's new identity was completely safe. She caught the fire of enthusiasm from Miranda and soon forgot her disappointment in the prospect of a shopping trip in Paris and seeing the season on the Riviera.

Nevertheless, before she left for Haymarket and the plane the next morning, she left a note for Basil Aldington telling him that her aunt had found it imperative to leave immediately. She said they were going to Paris for a fortnight and then they were leaving for Nice. She thanked him for the invitation, said she hoped that he would find his friends in London and that they would meet another time. She signed the note Diana Coles.

Carol couldn't remember ever having met a man before that she would regret meeting so much. She thought that day of Gary. Was it because she was so sure of him that she expected to find him waiting when she returned or was it because he meant so little to her?

She had little time to think of herself on that first flying trip. Carol would have loved it. She found it thrilling but it was too much for Miranda and when they had been driven from Le Bourget to Paris and their hotel in the Rue de Louvre, Carol found her first evening a busy one. She had hoped to fill herself with excitement in the gayest city in the world but she spent it trying to soothe Miranda's headache and her fears.

She was no longer a smart woman of the world, she was a pathetic little lady, ill and frightened. Did Carol think it best for them to go back? Could they keep up their elaborate pretense until David could insure their safe return? Neither Carol nor Miranda knew what the consequences would be for Carol but Carol knew what would happen to Miranda and she treated her to go through with it.

When she awoke in the morning, Miranda was a changed person. Her fears of the night before vanished before her continental breakfast of chocolate and rolls. She was like a child anxious to get back to a new and inviting toy.

The endless shops were a constant joy to her and she bought recklessly. She would have bought jewels but Carol begged her to save their money. They bought gowns and hats and a luxurious coat of mink for Carol. Carol would repay it all once back in America, and meanwhile they found a woman's paradise.

Such confessions of gowns Carol had never dreamed of. There was silvery-hued things for Miranda and shades of gold and bitter-sweet for Carol. Miranda insisted on Carol's buying everything yellow that she touched. She said it made Carol's hair so beautiful.

They had to buy trunks to hold the gowns and gay pajamas, beach togs and lingerie. They had most fun buying the gorgeous, deceptive paste jewelry that flashed from their wrists like diamonds. Miranda had been brought up in a school that believed paste jewelry vulgar but Carol assured her, that today, since it could not be discerned from the real gems, most wise people put their real jewels in the safe and wore paste. It was safer, too, she pointed out, and Miranda was to learn that later in the excitement that was to greet them at Nice.

Miranda wanted to see all of Paris. Night life, since they had no escorts, was closed to them but they dined nightly at smart restaurants, lunched at the Ritz, and drove about the streets during the afternoons after their morning shopping trips.

"We'll come back here in the spring," Carol said. "And we'll take a little apartment. Although, by that time I hope we'll be able to go home. We should have word from Hilliard by then."

"I have a feeling that we ought not to stay in Paris," Carol shivered slightly; she had a premonition but she couldn't put it into words.

That night when she and Miranda went to the Cafe de l'Opera to dine, she was to learn that her premonition was well-founded.

Miranda had torn the finger of her white glove and she went to the dressing room to have it mended. Carol went alone to engage a table.

Carol's slim figure was sheathed in a gown of cloth of gold. More than one pair of eyes turned to look at her as she stood in the entrance to that famous dining room.

"Carol! In Paris! If you're not the most surprising girl!" cried her cousin, Kathy Prentice, coming toward her. She was the last person in the world Carol wanted to see!

Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our pace; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders fields

Take up our quarrel with the foe:
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high;
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

John McCrae.

REVELLE

(April 6, 1917)

What sudden bugle calls us in the night
And wakes us from a dream that we had shaped;
Flinging us sharply up against a fight
We thought we had escaped?

It is no easy waking, and we win
No final peace; our victories are few.
But still imperative forces pull us in
And sweep us somehow through.

Semmoned by a supreme and confident power
That wakes our sleeping courage like a blow,
We rise, half-shaken, to the challenging hour,
And answer it—and go...

What Is It That Aches When One Has Headache?

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

ONE OF THE real problems about headache is, what aches? There are many structures in the head, many nerves, many different mechanisms, and it is not easy to explain a headache on any one single basis.

The brain itself is entirely insensitive to pain, but the covering of the brain, the dura mater, is sensitive to pain and especially when it is stretched. Inasmuch as it is confined in a solid bony box and in the center, rather, river of fluid which may be under tension, or under varying tensions, it is possible that in one form of headache the pressure of this fluid stretches the dura mater and causes the pain. In this case it is one of those burning kind of headaches, and the patient really feels what is actually happening—that the brain covering is under pressure. Of course we know that this kind of mechanism can cause headache because it is the mechanism which obtains in the headache of brain tumor, a condition which is, fortunately, rare.

Then another thing that can happen to make the head ache is concerned with the sinuses of the nose. Nature, in order to make the skull light, designed a series of air cavities. If the skull were solid bone, it would require a great deal more muscular effort than we now use to carry it around. These air cavities lighten it. They also have to do with the resonance of the voice. They are called "sinuses." Each one is lined with mucous membrane, which has a secretion, and each one has an opening into the cavity of the nose. When these openings close up, the secretion goes on and tension naturally results. This occurs rarely in sinus disease, however, as we shall see later in the week.

The head is also filled with nerves of sensation, which go over the scalp and into the skin of the face, and into the bony structure. These are subject to neuritis, neuralgia and fatigue, and when affected of this way begin to ache, resulting in another form of headache.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clending can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clending, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. A. SHEPARD, Famous Bridge Teacher

MR. J. B. DEMOREST, a reader of The Clinton Herald, writes: "A friend of mine recently made a small slam at hearts on the following hand. He sat South and showed both major suits. The opening lead was the Q of diamonds. I do not understand how a vulnerable pair ever reached so high a contract as 6-Hearts, nor do I see how that contract can be fulfilled with normal play all around. Will you please explain both points?"

At the fifth trick lead one of dummy's spades. East must play the Q of that suit. It would be useless to false-card with the K. If West held five spades headed by the Q he almost certainly would have led a trump, to hold down dummy's ruffs of that suit. Probably also he would have doubled 6-Hearts. Win the fifth trick with declarer's Ace. Lead back a low spade, giving East the K of that suit.

The most natural return lead by East is the K of diamonds. Have South ruff with a low card. He does not fear that West will show out of the suit. Lead a low spade. That suit may have been dealt 3-3 to opponents, but the odds are nearly 2 to 1 that the deal gave opponents a 4-2 division. South may expect East has no more spades, but all that he can do is to ruff with dummy's 8, hoping that East will not overruff with the missing J. Lead the 10 of hearts. Overtake with the Q, giving South 8 of the 9 tricks played. Lead both declarer's trumps, then lead his two good spades. Normal play will yield a small slam.

KILLED BY PROPHECY

PRAGUE. — A fortune-teller's prophecy led to the death of Josef Kovac, 24. She foretold that he would "die an unnatural death." Kovac remembered this when he was called up for medical examination as a potential conscript for the army, and asked a herbalist to give him medicine to make him temporarily unfit. This the herbalist did. But the medicine set up acute poisoning—from which Kovac died.

WHAT THE MILDNESS OF CAMELS MEANS TO FAMOUS AVIATORS

Lieutenant Commander Frank Hawks, U.S.N.R., famous holder of 214 speed records and the Harmon Trophy, says: "I've been flying for 19 years and smoking Camels almost as long. Making speed records tests the pilot as well as his plane. Camels never make me jumpy or bother my physical 'condition' in any way. As the athletes say, Camels are so mild they don't get the wind. And I've found they never upset my nerves. Camel must use choicer tobaccos."

"Camels don't get your Wind" Athletes say

"Speaking of cigarettes, I make it a rule to smoke Camels," says Mrs. T. W. Kenyon, sportswoman pilot. "They are the mildest cigarette I know. Morning, noon, and night, I can smoke Camels steadily. They never upset my nerves. And each Camel renews the zest and enjoyment of the last one!"

"They Never Get on Your Nerves"

"I appreciate the mellow flavor of Camels," says Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, the transpacific flyer, in a recent interview. "Camels refresh me so when I'm fatigued," he continues, "and they are so mild that I can smoke any number without throwing my nerves off key."

"They Never Tire Your Taste"

KILLED BY PROPHECY

PRAGUE. — A fortune-teller's prophecy led to the death of Josef Kovac, 24. She foretold that he would "die an unnatural death." Kovac remembered this when he was called up for medical examination as a potential conscript for the army, and asked a herbalist to give him medicine to make him temporarily unfit. This the herbalist did. But the medicine set up acute poisoning—from which Kovac died.

WHAT THE MILDNESS OF CAMELS MEANS TO FAMOUS AVIATORS

Lieutenant Commander Frank Hawks, U.S.N.R., famous holder of 214 speed records and the Harmon Trophy, says: "I've been flying for 19 years and smoking Camels almost as long. Making speed records tests the pilot as well as his plane. Camels never make me jumpy or bother my physical 'condition' in any way. As the athletes say, Camels are so mild they don't get the wind. And I've found they never upset my nerves. Camel must use choicer tobaccos."

"Camels don't get your Wind" Athletes say

"Speaking of cigarettes, I make it a rule to smoke Camels," says Mrs. T. W. Kenyon, sportswoman pilot. "They are the mildest cigarette I know. Morning, noon, and night, I can smoke Camels steadily. They never upset my nerves. And each Camel renews the zest and enjoyment of the last one!"

"They Never Get
on Your Nerves"

"I appreciate the mellow flavor of Camels," says Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, the transpacific flyer, in a recent interview. "Camels refresh me so when I'm fatigued," he continues, "and they are so mild that I can smoke any number without throwing my nerves off key."

"They Never Tire
Your Taste"

OHIO STATE HIT FOR SCORE

Walsh Cites Failure of Back to Hold Irish

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (INS)—Perhaps mine was just a lemon phosphate while the rest were having nectar. Maybe I'm only an old crankcase who sits on his palms when he should be standing in the ramparts and beating the breast with fervor and gusto. Yet even while the miracle of the minute-hand was being enacted at Columbus on Saturday and pout! Just like that—Notre Dame was the winner over Ohio State by 18 to 13 instead of the loser by 13 to 0, reason told you this aerial magic could not happen again even with Ohio State.

With that one over, the rest of the Notre Dame schedule seems simple enough. But I'm beginning to wonder whether it will really go through undefeated.

Offered as Warning

For this a lot of Notre Dame people will want to have me led off somewhere out of earshot and destroyed. However, it's offered not in criticism, but in warning. That first half Notre Dame team was pretty much of a middle-class ball club, sluggish in attack and badly outplayed in the center of the line. The second-half team was Pitney, a tremendous runner, plus greater aggressiveness at the ends and a center trio that really moved things out of the way for cut-back plays.

Maybe it will remain the second-half team; the rest of the way. The thunder of that utterly mad last quarter may repeat itself with volley upon volley for, once aroused, football teams are like that.

At the moment, no one can rightly say, no one, in fact, is privileged to say that Notre Dame is better than a half dozen others, North Carolina, Minnesota, California, Southern Methodist, Texas Christian, Princeton. The only thing that seems quite certain is that Notre Dame will not again face a pass-defense as vulnerable as Ohio State's.

Backfield's Fault

Forgotten in the uproar was the fact that a Buckeye substitute snuffed an absurdly simple pass-interception on the play just before the winning touchdown and that the man who immediately replaced the above culprit failed to cover Miller in the end zone.

Anyhow, it was drawn as finely as that. If the interception had been made, all of us would now be assailing Notre Dame instead of praising it. However, I will and must say this:

With Pitney in the ball game—He may be out the next two with an injured leg—Notre Dame is the superior of the so called wonder team, Ohio State. It even had a fumble over the goal line to make it as close as it did.

Fourteen entries were run Sunday afternoon in the derby with "Anticipation," a pointer, owned and handled by W. D. Mack, Columbus, taking first prize. All prizes were awarded on the 50.30, 20 basis.

A second run was given the dogs Sunday morning to determine the winners in the all-age stake. Sixteen entries were listed in this event. Sanborn, Columbus; 3, "Co-op Lady," pointer, owned and handled by F. C. Ogg, Columbus.

Judges in the derby and all age stakes were Ollie Neimeyer, Prospect, and Robert Wells, McArthur.

Six entries were listed in the novice or membership stake run Saturday in which cups were given as prizes. The winners were: "Caesar Cyclone," setter, owned and handled by B. S. Miller, South Bloomfield; 2, "Belle," pointer, owned and handled by W. G. Richard, Circleville; 3, "Dan," setter, owned and handled by J. W. Templin, Clarksburg, Neimeyer and George Hunter, Newark, were judges.

PLAN TO REDISTRICT STATE FOR CAGE MEET

COLUMBUS, Nov. 4—(INS)—The Ohio high school athletic association board of control will meet here Friday, Nov. 15, to discuss plans for redistricting the state relative to the annual high school basketball tournament, Commissioner H. R. Townsend, said today.

Because of the Ohio State-Notre Dame game, the board at a meeting Friday decided to settle the redistricting issue Nov. 15, Townsend said.

Why pray for wealth or fame? Just develop swell-head and then you can be happy without either of them.

About This And That In Many Sports

Each Ahead One Half

Ohio State won the first half and Notre Dame took the second half but in so doing upset the Buckeye apple-cart and all hopes the Ohioans had of a national grid championship. The rally put on by the Irish in the final period after they trailed 0-13 at the end of the third session was one of those thrills of a lifetime. The game ended 13-18.

All Change Minds

It seems that the best team won; figures show that. For five minutes after Notre Dame scored that third touchdown on a pass from Shakespear to Miller most of the crowd was dumbfounded, it was downhearted, astounded, and every other adjective that could be thought of. An hour later those same people were unanimous in their belief that the best outfit won.

Contributing Factors

Here are a few contributing factors of the ball game—Andy Pitney's great running; Shakespear's super-kicking which kept Ohio so deep in its own territory there was no chance to open up; Coach Layden's choice of substitutes; a poor exhibition of freezing by the Ohio backfield with less than a minute to play; Beltz' fumble and later his failure to hold a pass that he knocked down; a tiring line with Hamrick and Harre of little value as rushers of the passer in the final half, giving Notre Dame backs as much time as they wanted to find ball carriers! THE NEVER-SAY-DIE fighting spirit of the men from Notre Dame.

Greatest of 1935

The game will undoubtedly go down in history as the greatest of the year—81,018 saw it, many on tickets that cost them upwards of $5.

Nov. 2 can go down in the little green book as the day for prognosticators' efforts to be pegged into a cocked hat. This column picked 12 games, and lost six, one was a tie and five were right. That's a dickens of a record, but we have come a long way from the janitor took it on the chin. The games in which we were right were: Princeton over Navy, Alabama over Kentucky, Minnesota over Purdue, Ohio U. over Miami and Dartmouth over Yale. We chose Ohio over Notre Dame, Pennsylvania over Michigan, Colgate over Tulane, Illinois over Northwestern, Cincinnati over Ohio Wesleyan and UCLA over California. The tie was Iowa and Indiana, the former being our choice.

Only Few Picked Irish

Circleville sports fans who predicted the Notre Dame victory were C. F. Seitz, Charlie Martin, Elgin Merriman, John Rooney, Bob Pickens, Casy Grooms, Charlie Greco—Hammer Harrington, convinced of the Irish strength, did not go to the river.

Why pray for wealth or fame? Just develop swell-head and then you can be happy without either of them.

PASS DEFENSE OF OHIO STATE HIT FOR SCORE

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(INS)—Perhaps mine was just a lemon phosphate while the rest were having nectar. Maybe I'm only an old crankcase who sits on his palms when he should be standing on the ramparts and beating the breast with fervor and gusto. Yet even while the miracle of the minute-hand was being enacted at Columbus on Saturday and—pouf! Just like that—Notre Dame was the winner over Ohio State by 18 to 13 instead of the loser by 13 to 0, reason told you this aerial magic could not happen again even with Ohio State.

With that one over, the rest of the Notre Dame schedule seems simple enough. But I'm beginning to wonder whether it will really go through undefeated.

Offered as Warning

For this a lot of Notre Dame people will want to have me led off somewhere out of earshot and destroyed. However, it's offered not in criticism, but in warning. That first half Notre Dame team was pretty much of a middle-class ball club, sluggish in attack and badly outplayed in the center of the line. The second-half team was Pilney, a tremendous runner, plus greater aggressiveness at the ends and a centre trio that really moved things out of the way for cut-back plays.

Maybe it will remain the second-half team the rest of the way. The thunder of that utterly mad last quarter may repeat itself with volley upon volley for, once aroused, football teams are like that.

At the moment, no one can rightly say, no one, in fact, is privileged to say that Notre Dame is better than a half dozen others, North Carolina, Minnesota, California, Southern Methodist, Texas Christian, Princeton. The only thing that seems quite certain is that Notre Dame will not again face a pass-defense as vulnerable as Ohio State's.

Backfield's Fault

Forgotten in the uproar was the fact that a Buckeye substitute, muffed an absurdly simple pass-interception on the play just before the winning touchdown and that the man who immediately replaced the above culprit failed to cover Miller in the end zone.

Anyhow, it was drawn as finely as that. If the interception had been made, all of us would now be assailing Notre Dame instead of praising it. However, I will and must say this:

With Pilney in the ball game—He may be out the next two with an injured leg—Notre Dame is the superior of the so called wonder team, Ohio State. It even had a fumble over the goal line to make it as close as it did.

FINE DOGS WIN AWARDS IN CLUB TWO-DAY TRIALS

Nearly 400 Persons Watch Event at Kinderhook Farm

Approximately 400 persons attended the field trials Sunday of the Pickaway-co Bird Dog club, held six miles west of Circleville, near Kinderhook.

Fourteen entries were run Sunday afternoon in the derby with "Anticipation," a pointer, owned and handled by W. D. Mack, Columbus, taking first prize. "Betty Bauman," pointer, owned and handled by George Hunter, Newark, took second, and "Unamont Blackie," pointer, owned and handled by G. Parsons, Lancaster, took third.

All prizes were awarded on the 50, 30, 20 basis.

A second run was given the dogs Sunday morning to determine the winners in the all-age stake. Sixteen entries were listed in this event. Prize winners were: 1, "Dizzy Duke," pointer, owned and handled by George Hunter, Newark; 2, "Buckeye Stages," pointer owned and handled by B. Sanborn, Columbus; 3, "Co-op Lady," pointer, owned and handled by F. C. Ogg, Columbus.

Judges in the derby and all age stakes were Ollie Neimeyer, Prospect, and Robert Wells, McArthur. Six entries were listed in the novice or membership stake run Saturday in which cups were given as prizes. The winners were:

"Caesar Cyclone," setter, owned and handled by B. S. Miller, South Bloomfield; 2, "Belle," pointer, owned and handled by W. G. Richard, Circleville; 3, "Dan," setter, owned and handled by J. W. Templin, Clarksburg. Neimeyer and George Hunter, Newark, were judges.

Winners in the puppy stake were: 1, "President Pro Tem," pointer, owned and handled by Louis Eberle, Nelsonville; 2, "Belle," pointer owned and handled by Harry Hurst, Williamsport; 3, "Hawk Spectre Speak," setter, owned by G. Landis, Columbus, and handled by Harry Ferguson. Judges were the same as in the membership stake.

The next field trials will be held in the spring, officials of the club announced.

PLAN TO REDISTRIBUTE STATE FOR CAGE MEET

COLUMBUS, Nov. 4—(INS)—The Ohio high school athletic association board of control will meet here Friday, Nov. 15, to discuss plans for redistricting the state relative to the annual high school basketball tournament, Commissioner H. R. Townsend, said today.

About This And That In Many Sports

Each Ahead One Half

Ohio State won the first half and Notre Dame took the second half but in so doing upset the Buckeye apple-cart and all hopes the Ohioans had of a national grid championship. The rally put on by the Irish in the final period after they trailed 0-13 at the end of the third session was one of those thrills of a lifetime. The game ended 13-18.

All Change Minds

It seems that the best team won; figures show that—For five minutes after Notre Dame scored that third touchdown on a pass from Shakespeare to Miller most of the crowd was dumbfounded, it was downhearted, astounded, and every other adjective that could be thought of—An hour later those same people were unanimous in their belief that the best outfit won.

Contributing Factors

Here are a few contributing factors of the ball game—Andy Pilney's great running; Shakespeare's super-kicking which kept Ohio so deep in its own territory there was no chance to open up; Coach Layden's choice of substitutes; a poor exhibition of freeing by the Ohio backfield with less than a minute to play; Beltz' fumble and later his failure to hold a pass that he knocked down; a firing line with Hamrick and Harre of little value as rushers of the passer in the final half, giving Notre Dame backs as much time as they wanted to find ball carriers! THE NEVER-SAY-DIE fighting spirit of the men from Notre Dame.

Greatest of 1935

The game will undoubtedly go down in history as the greatest of the year—81,018 saw it, many on tickets that cost them upwards of $5. Nov. 2 can go down in the little green book as the day for prognosticators' efforts to be pegged into a cocked hat—This column picked 12 games, and lost six, one was a tie and five were right—That's a dickens of a record, but we have consolation in that a lot of better prognosticators than the janitor took it on the chin—The games in which we were right were: Princeton over Navy, Alabama over Kentucky, Minnesota over Purdue, Ohio U. over Miami and Dartmouth over Yale. We chose Ohio over Notre Dame, Pennsylvania over Michigan, Colgate over Tulane, Illinois over Northwestern, Cincinnati over Ohio Wesleyan and UCLA over California—The tie was Iowa and Indiana, the former being our choice.

Only Few Picked Irish

Circleville sports fans who predicted the Notre Dame victory were C. F. Seitz, Charlie Martin, Elgin Merriman, John Rooney, Bob Pickens, Casey Grooms, Charlie Greco—Hammer Harrington, convinced of the Irish strength, did not go to the river.

Why pray for wealth or fame? Just develop swell-head and then you can be happy without either of them.

PROSPECTIVE HOME OR INVESTMENT BUYERS

Many of you have experienced the drudgery and toil of the poorly equipped farms, and have deprived yourself and your families of the luxury and comforts of life, in order to create a savings, whereby someday you might have an opportunity to buy a farm with a modern home, that offers all the comforts and conveniences of the most luxurious city apartment.
What a feeling of satisfaction and pride that must be yours when you have reached the point where this can be accomplished. But remember, even though your highest ambitions in life have been realized, you will still be living in the same old rut if you do not act at once, and make this investment before land prices have advanced beyond your purchasing power.

I am offering to you this week, the farm of your dreams, a perfect little place, and should you choose to invest your savings in these premises you will be the holder of one of the choicest securities the world has to offer.

I submit for your consideration, this beautiful farm home located on federal route, on lands that are second to none in value, in the very heart of the corn belt almost within steps throw of church, schools, live stock and grain markets, with extra good fenced thoroughbred barns, garage outbuildings of all sorts, that are in keeping with premises of this kind.

The residence—a new modern and unusually attractive wire cut brick, six room bungalow, possessing every feature that adds to the comforts of a home, including electrical equipment of all kind, very best hot air furnace, hot water radiator, pressure tanks forcing both kinds of water into kitchen and bath room, elaborately built in cupboards in kitchen, large modern sink and drain boards, electric refrigerator, electric range, built in china closet in dining room that is within itself a work of art, open fire place in large living room, open stairway leading to den on second floor, and hardwood floors throughout of the very best quality. A strictly modern bath room with fixtures of very latest design.

What a farm, what a home, what a location, and the price, neither high nor low, just a fair market price considering what it has to offer, no improvements to be made. Move in and start taking in the money.

Terms Cash or will make you a loan for any reasonable amount providing security is satisfactory. Possession in thirty days if desired. No. of acres 125.

Disputing Notre Dame's First Touchdown

$36,900 GIFT ASSURED CITY IF BOND ISSUE CARRIES

FEDERAL HELP WOULD PROVIDE NEEDED SCHOOL

Example of Crowded Condition Shown in 8th Grade

The proposed bond issue for $50,000, which the Circleville Board of Education is submitting to the voters of the city on Tuesday, is an especially timely one. If the bond issue is approved it is the intention of the board to have the work done as a Federal PWA project.

Should the city vote "yes" on the issue there is every reasonable hope to believe that the government at Washington will furnish its share of the work under PWA rulings. Under the federal set-up this will mean that the government will furnish 45 per cent of all money spent. This will apply, not only to the building addition itself, but also to any equipment purchased.

Gift Totals $36,900

In other words, of every hundred dollars spent, the city would furnish $55 and the government $45. Thus, if the total cost of the building were $82,000, as per the present plans, the government would furnish $36,900.

This is not to be confused with a Government loan. The $36,900 would not be a loan, but a down-right gift from the government.

The proposed addition would connect the present high school building with the Corwin-st building. The present high school building would then be flush with Corwin-st, having two symmetrical entrances on Court-st and two on Corwin-st.

The new addition would contain thirteen rooms. Several of these would be capable of being transformed into rooms for social activities and for use of the musical and other organizations which play such a prominent part in the present-day high school curriculum.

Eighth Grade Spreads

The crowded conditions of the present quarters have been frequently called attention to in the past. In the twenty years which have elapsed since the present high school building was erected the size of the graduating classes has been more than trebled.

A striking criterion of the gradual growth has occurred this fall when the eighth grade reached such proportions that four rooms have been necessary to accommodate the pupils. Previous to

The grocery store seemed to have a hold on "Daddy" as he went in partnership with Frederick Schneider in the business from 1872 to 1885 in the E. Main-st building where E. S. When Mr. Weimer left the partnership, Mr. Foerst moved his store to the Hegel block, opposite the U. B. Church and operated it until 1902.

For the next 22 years he was custodian of the High-st school.

Mr. Foerst's wife and two sons preceded him in death. Harry, a son, died in childhood, and Charles died about eight years ago.

Mr. Foerst was a charter member of the local Knights of Pythias lodge.

voters to back him through a comprehensive platform.

The other city ticket races are interesting with contests for auditor, treasurer, council-at-large, and in two of the four wards. The township offices are all being contested with rural residents of Circleville-twp urging voters to elect someone living outside the city limits.

Two Village Contests
All townships and villages have their contests and many promise to be interesting. The major village elections are in Williamsport where William D. Radcliff, William Sells and Frank Malay are seeking office, and in Ashville where the incumbent, E. E. Fraunfelder, and Harry Margulis are competing.

The city school board race is drawing a lot of attention with three jobs to be filled. The terms of Charles H. May and Clarence R. Barnhart expire and so does that of Robert G. Colville but he no longer wants to be on the board since he is county treasurer. In the contest for the three posts are Mr. May, Mr. Barnhart, Ed Helwagner, Rev. L. C. Sherburne, K. J. Herrmann, J. M. Kirwin, Dr. G. D. Phillips, and William M. Reid.

The bond issue for $50,000 to obtain federal aid in a school program is also the object of much interest. A complete story of the bond issue is found on page 8 of today's Herald.

LAND PURCHASE IN OHIO OKEHD

15,000 Acres to Be Paid for By Uncle Sam

CHILLICOTHE, Nov. 4.—Final approval of the purchase of 15,000 acres of timber-depleted and eroded land near here for the Ross-Hocking forest and rehabilitation project, the second largest of its kind authorized for Ohio, was announced today by the Resettlement administration.

Purpose of the project, according to the announcement by E. A. Norton, director of land utilization, Resettlement administration, is to lift the heavy relief in the area, give a new start in life to the families struggling on the barren soil, and convert the land to the growth of trees to make it an economic asset again instead of a public liability.

The area to be developed spreads into Ross and Hocking-co, with some land contemplated for resettlement purposes, being located in the northwest corner of Vinton-co. Headquarters for the project is located here.

Agents of the Resettlement administration are nearing completion of their acceptance of options on land in the project area.

"The area in the Ross-Hocking project," Norton says, "offers one of the best examples in this region; of the necessity of aiding people to get off of soil that cannot even support them in the bare necessities of life, and readjusting that soil to a use for which it is better fitted than the farming that is being attempted on it."

"It is proposed," Norton says in amplification of the program for the area "to develop the land as a state forest that will in time be a source of valuable timber, the marketing of which will provide employment for people of the area and contribute again to the revenue of the state."

Despite their hard work and efforts to maintain themselves, 37 per cent of the families in the area are on relief. To these who wish to move off the poor land to farms that are productive, assistance will be given by the Resettlement administration.

$36,900 GIFT ASSURED CITY IF BOND ISSUE CARRIES

The proposed bond issue for $50,000, which the Circleville Board of Education is submitting to the voters of the city on Tuesday, is an especially timely one. If the bond issue is approved it is the intention of the board to have the work done as a Federal PWA project.

Members of the social civics class of the high school were making a house-to-house canvass Monday afternoon in the interest of the $50,000 bond issue.

furnish its share of the work under PWA rulings. Under the federal set-up this will mean that the government will furnish 45 per cent of all money spent. This will apply, not only to the building addition itself, but also to any equipment purchased.

Gift Totals $36,900
In other words, of every hundred dollars spent, the city would furnish $55 and the government $45. Thus, if the total cost of the building were $82,000, as per the present plans, the government would furnish $36,900.

This is not to be confused with a Government loan. The $36,900 would not be a loan, but a down-right gift from the government.

The proposed addition would connect the present high school building with the Corwin-st building. The present high school building would then be flush with Corwin-st, having two symmetrical entrances on Court-st and two on Corwin-st.

The new addition would contain thirteen rooms. Several of these would be capable of being transformed into rooms for social activities and for use of the musical and other organizations which play such a prominent part in the present-day high school curriculum.

The crowded conditions of the present quarters have been frequently called attention to in the past. In the twenty years which have elapsed since the present high school building was erected the size of the graduating classes has been more than trebled.

A striking criterion of the gradual growth has occurred this fall when the eighth grade reached such proportions that four rooms have been necessary to accommodate the pupils. Previous to

GREECE'S EXILED KING TO RETURN IN FEW DAYS

ATHENS, Nov. 4.—(INS)—King George II, an exile for 12 years will return to his re-established throne in Athens in a few days. General George Kondylis, Greece's strong man, announced today.

The handsome nephew of the former Kaiser will leave London on Nov. 15, it is understood here.

The king's portrait was ordered hung in a place of honor in all school buildings. The cabinet met this morning and renewed its oath towards General Kondylis as regent extending his office, which expired yesterday, until the king's return.

The announcement followed an earlier one stating that Greece, which gave mankind the Republican form of government, had cast 98 per cent of the vote in yesterday's election for restoration of Monarchy.

Republicans boycotted the election. Less than 150,000 persons voted in Athens. General Kondylis called upon everyone to vote for the monarchy, "in order to put an end to anarchy." Voters' selections of blue (monarchy) or red (republic) ballots were under the eyes of officials. The result was never in doubt.
